Audatex Selected as Data Consolidator by AAMVA

Audatex North America, Inc. has signed an agreement with the American Association of Motor Vehicle Administrators (AAMVA) to become an authorized data consolidator for reporting information to the U.S. National Motor Vehicle Title Information System (NMVTIS). The NMVTIS database, overseen by the U.S. Department of Justice, maintains accurate vehicle “salvage and title data” to protect vehicle owners against fraud. NMVTIS provides consumers valuable information about a vehicle’s condition and history. Prior to buying a vehicle, consumers can use NMVTIS to research information on a vehicle’s ownership, most recent odometer reading, brand history, and – in some cases – historical theft data.

Efficient Reporting Solution for the Insurance and Salvage Industries

Federal NMVTIS rules, which became effective in March, now require that insurers, salvage yards, salvage pools, and vehicle shredders report salvage and total loss vehicles into the national database.

Through the Audatex NMVTIS reporting system, a reporting entity such as an insurer, salvage yard, salvage pool or shredder will provide Audatex a file containing the required vehicle data for Federal compliance. Audatex will validate the file for completeness and accuracy, and submit it to NMVTIS on their behalf. This solution will be available in November.
